

Ad ID 3296

Ad Text Native American teens made an interesting journey through their ancestral lands. The journey was led by Sarah Pemberton member of the Delaware Nation. Sarah and her partner Kyle Harris created a movie about the journey called "The Water Gap: Return to the Homelands" which already won the award at the Native American Film Festival of the Southeast. Propaganda of native culture and traditions is one of most powerful weapons in Native American fight for their rights. People have always tried to destroy things they don't understand. And white people never understood native culture properly. Many teens who had native ancestors deep in the past know nothing about their culture. Films, journeys, even videos on Youtube, can help.

Ad Landing Page <https://www.facebook.com/Native-Americans-United-386046198404902/>

Ad Targeting Location - Living In: United States

Age: 18 - 65+

Placements: News Feed on desktop computers or News Feed on mobile devices

People Who Match: Interests: American Indian Movement, Native American Indian Wisdom, Cherokee language or Cherokee Nation

Ad Impressions 345

Ad Clicks 27

Ad Spend 200.00 RUB

Ad Creation Date 01/31/17 11:31:59 PM PST

Ad End Date 02/01/17 11:31:59 PM PST

Native Americans United

Sponsored ·

Like Page

Native American teens made an interesting journey through their ancestral lands. The journey was led by Sarah Pemberton member of the Delaware Nation. Sarah and her partner Kyle Harris created a movie about the journey called "The Water Gap: Return to the Homelands" which already won the award at the Native American Film Festival of the Southeast.

Propaganda of native culture and traditions is one of most powerful weapons in Native American fight for their rights. People have always tried to destroy things they don't understand. And white people never understood native culture properly. Many teens who had native ancestors deep in the past know nothing about their culture. Films, journeys, even videos on Youtube, can help.

28 Likes 1 Comment 4 Shares

Like

Comment

Share